MATADOR PICTURES JOINS REGENT CAPITAL

As of today (Monday 1st November, 2010) Matador Pictures becomes part of Regent Capital. This consolidates a relationship that has already seen Matador Pictures and Regent Capital collaborate on over twenty feature films that have garnered over eighty awards, nominations and festival selections.

The transaction between Matador and Regent Capital represents the next stage in Matador's continuing development as one of the UK's pre-eminent feature film production companies, and will allow Matador to place an even greater emphasis on in-house development and production. Matador are renowned for championing new talent in the UK film industry, across both financial and production capacities and this commitment will continue to grow.

Recent collaborations between Matador and Regent Capital have included the eagerly-anticipated AGE OF HEROES, KILLING BONO and THIRD STAR.

Nigel Thomas, Matador Pictures producer, says: "This is an exciting evolution in our successful five year collaboration with Regent Capital which will see growth in our existing operations and a move into new areas of activity."
